THE IRIS 400

A PRICE LIST OF THE BETTER IRIS

CECIL HOUDYSHEL

A SHORT PERSONAL LETTER TO YOU

Dear Floral Friends:

When I look at the following collection of the newest and best Iris, which are now in full bloom, and am thrilled by their ineffable beauty, I feel convinced that the science and the art of Iris breeding has been as progressive and as productive of astounding results as the efforts of science and invention along any other lines. I am proud too that these are mostly American originations.

Previous to 1910, I had never seen any Iris except the common old white and blue "flags". That spring I flowered some new sorts I had imported from Goos and Koenemann of Breslau, Germany. They were then the latest and best, bred by this firm and other European breeders. Included were Magnifica, Iris King, Rhein Nixe, Loreley, Mad. Chereau, (first plicata), Mrs. Darwin, Darius and actually one described as pink, Queen of May. There were 30 or 40 sorts. My importation was probably the first or at least one of the first brought to California.

Soon American breeders were giving close competition to the Europeans and in 20 years my new Iris were being rapidly replaced by better ones. A new and better Magnifica replaced the original one. Aphrodite was a better pink, but still not very pink. Iris King (G and K's Iris Koenig) was held in favor a long time and I still think of it reverently.

The old Rhein Nixe has gained immortality thru transmitting its pattern in greater refinement to several that I believe must be its descendents such as the beautiful Wabash.

Now after 40 years the new varieties are almost countless. From these, for our "Iris 400" have been gleaned those most outstanding. There are not yet 400 of them, so nearly 100 more will be added when we can sell them within the price range of this list. But the varieties added must stand rigorous test before they are added as we want this list to include only the very best.

Those listed here are amazingly, ineffably beautiful. "Out of this world", aptly describes them. Richer blends; purer, larger whites of more refined form; deeper golden yellows like that of King Alfred Daffodils; finer, redder reds; more pink in the pink sorts; blues like the sky after rain and other shades for sunny days or dark days; plicatas; variegatas; bicolors, they are all here.

If you do not add several of these to your garden, you are denying yourself much pleasure. They will give you many happy hours.

Yours sincerely,
Cecil Houdyshel

Terms are the same as those outlined fully in our Spring and Fall Catalogs. Briefly, these are: California customers must add 2½% sales tax. We do not ship orders C. O. D. Remittance in full must accompany orders. We prepay postage on orders for $1.00 or more. Orders under $1.00 for these Iris must send 15c extra for postage and packing.

Deliveries will begin about July 15, but it is better to get your order in early as we try to fill orders approximately in rotation. Don't send 2 or 3 orders at intervals and ask us to assemble and send all at one time as it is almost impossible to assemble and connect them. We will be rushed and will lack time to answer inquiries or give additional information about varieties.

If you want an acknowledgement of your order it is better to enclose a self addressed post card which we will at once mail back. We will be as prompt as possible, but please be patient as we sometimes get a little in arrears when orders come faster than we can dig, assemble, pack and ship them. We can't employ extra help for this purpose as we must use only long trained and careful packers.

Dozen and 100 rates are not given on Iris from this list. Only those discounts explained under "Iris Collections" may be applied. These discounts are the most liberal, in fact, that have ever been offered. They are as low or lower than any wholesale.

Substitution. We have a good stock of most of the varieties listed, but there is a possibility that we may run out of a few of the rarer ones late in the season. We will not substitute without your permission. If we may substitute please include a list we may select from.

Near by customers are requested to send orders by mail as we dig these only once a week by a sort of "assembly line" method and cannot make "over the counter" deliveries.

Cheaper Iris are listed in our Spring Catalog. If you do not have one and wish to order Iris please ask for a copy. Our supply is very limited and we may have to send a copy that has been mailed before.

In ordering, if you wish you may use this price list as an order sheet checking the items you want. If requested we will pack another price list with the order.

Culture of Iris is most simple. They prefer the heavier soils containing some clay and are especially fine in limestone soils where blue grass thrives. But they do very well in sandy loam and you need not be discouraged by possessing a sand soil or even a gravelly soil. The soil should be neutral or mildly alkaline and if acid it should receive wood ashes or lime in sufficient quantity to at least neutralize it.

Sandy soils will need lime or ashes. Where soils are naturally alkaline as in most parts of So. Calif. and parts of Texas, do not use ashes or lime.

Iris need full sun exposure and do not compete well with tree roots.

Fresh manure and tree leaves should be avoided. Use compost rather sparingly and be sure it is fully broken down. Rotted manure spaded in well in advance of planting is allowable but if the rhizomes are in contact with decaying vegetation some rot may result. Do not mulch the plants.

Plant the rhizomes about 1 inch under soil surface. Spread the roots out and cover more deeply. Keep plants well watered after planting in order to form clumps and obtain much bloom the following spring. As they increase rapidly do not plant too close.

Bearded Iris are mostly natives of the Mediteranean region where they naturally receive little water in late summer and get a thoro baking in hot sunshine. If your Iris do not bloom well it may be because you irrigate too well and too late in the season. As soon as the new growth becomes of good size, water less and finally very little or none. When clumps become too dense you must reset, using only the growing end of the rhizome, if you want an abundance of flowers.

For maximum results, this is all good advice based on long experience but you can ignore almost all of it and still get along rather well as Iris are most accommodating.

IRIS COLLECTIONS

When one buys a ready-made Iris collection, it is like buying a pre-fabricated house, you take what you get and like it. Some plants may duplicate what you already have and the colors may not be the ones you most desire. To avoid this, we offer you the opportunity to make your own selections and to get a collection of exactly what you want, the size you want and for the amount you wish to pay. You can do that, with no loss of what you could save by buying a pre-fabricated collection, by this plan which we outline as follows. Perhaps you can even save more.

When you remit \$10.00 and under \$25.00, you may select any extra plants to the value of $\frac{1}{4}$ of the amount remitted in addition to the value of your remittance. That means, for example, that you get \$12.50 worth of plants for \$10.00 and \$20.00 worth for \$16.00. For \$24.80 you get \$31.00 worth.

When you remit at least $25.00 or less than $50.00, you may select one third extra value.

When you remit at least $50.00 but less than $75.00, you may select one half extra value.

When you remit at least \$75.00 but less than \$100.00 you may select $\frac{3}{4}$ of this amount in extra value. Think of it! For \$80.00 you get \$140.00 worth of plants, all your own selection.

When you remit $100 or more you may make out your order for double the amount remitted.

Transportation charges on Collections. We will ship collections costing less than $50.00 by mail post paid. But on Collections costing $50.00 or more, since we are allowing 50% to 100% over value we cannot assume the cost of transportation. Besides this fact, it is also far safer to ship these larger and more valuable orders by express. Therefore we will ship by express, charges collect.

Some who buy under $50.00 worth of Iris may prefer to have them shipped by express collect and we will do this, adding extra plants, if you request it.
